Permission and limits

For the checked uses, I grant Aeaea and the provider named above nonexclusive, royalty free permission to reproduce, display, publish, crop, resize, color correct, caption, and make ordinary editorial edits to approved recordings. No edit may materially misrepresent what occurred, imply that I received or provided sexual services, or place the recording in pornographic or explicitly sexual material.

No third party commercial advertising, sale, sublicensing, synthetic media, face replacement, voice cloning, or artificial intelligence training is permitted without a separate written agreement.

Permission continues until I revoke it in writing by replying to the session email. Revocation applies to new use after Aeaea has a reasonable time to act. Material already printed, distributed, cached, archived, or published by an authorized third party may not be fully recoverable. Aeaea will stop new first party publication and remove material from first party channels where reasonably practicable, subject to recordkeeping and legal needs.

Compensation and ownership
